Transportation Traffic Report:

An update on global situations that may affect product flow.

Week of: August 14, 2023

GLOBAL PULSE

Argentina and Chile

- The Southern Hemisphere is currently in winter season and with that comes the potential for inclement weather impacting transport. From time to time over the course of the season the pass between Mendoza and Chile may temporarily close which can cause delays.
- Severe drought in the Panama Region continues to create a low water situation in the Panama Canal. This can result in draft restrictions being imposed on vessels forcing them to reduce the number of containers onboard. The authority has restricted the number of vessels being permitted to move through the canal which is causing congestion and some delay.

There are currently no port disruptions impacting LCBO orders.
